

AIRPORT ECONOMIC STUDIES

Economics play such a vital role in your decision-making processes. Explorer Solutions has extensive experience producing a variety of studies, and our experts will guide you in choosing the economic study that best suits your business reality and the targeted outcome.

ECONOMIC IMPACT ANALYSIS

This analysis provides critical information defining the economic impact of your airport including: direct, indirect and even induced. It is a "must have" tool when policy makers, the public or City/County officials question the funding and purpose of your airport. With a proven track record in economic impact analysis, we can help prove the economic value of your airport and assess future growth sectors.

PLANS & BUSINESS CASE

Business plans or smaller Business case studies are decision making tools. They provide a detailed portrait of your airport and management process but can also be targeted to a single or specific project. Our strong knowledge of airports and industry trends enables our team to prepare in-depth deliverables providing strong content and real data.

FINANCIAL MODELING

Our financial modeling can help you determine your airport's future financial performance based on its historical performance, among other factors.

This will prove to be a valuable resource when considering capital expenditures, budgeting, forecasting and planning future growth.

BENCHMARKING

How does your airport compare? Our unique methodology measures and compares the performance of several important aspects of your airport operations including: productivity, business development, unit costs and cost competitiveness, financial results and airport charges.

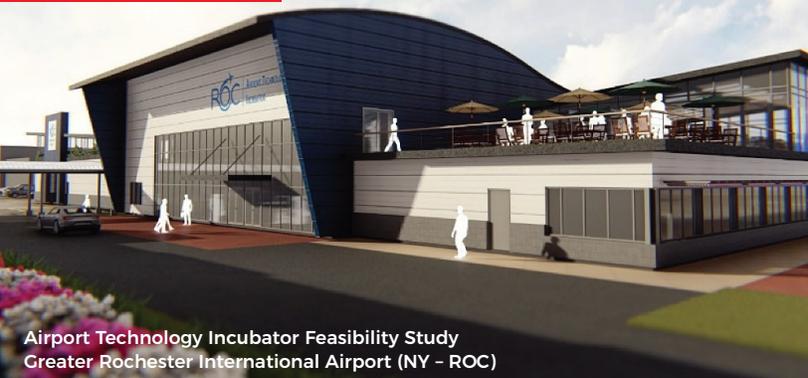

FEASIBILITY STUDIES

Utilize this study to quickly evaluate the practicality of a proposed idea, prior to heavily investing.

MARKET STUDIES

Our Market studies provide detailed market analysis. They can target specific subjects like air transport, concession, business aviation, investment attraction and other aviation/aerospace-related industries. Always on the cutting edge, our specialized methodologies ensure the precision of the results and overall conclusions.
